The two-story frame structure at 1 Willow Avenue is one of only four houses on Willow Avenue that appear on the 1898 Bromley Atlas. The house is simplistic in plan as well as ornamentation. The main (south) facade crudely resembles the main block of another pre-1898 structure standing at 32 Willow Avenue. It is rectangular in shape and measures 3 bays wide by 2 bays deep. A small shed roof addition has been made to the northeast corner of the original house.

A rough sketch of the floorplan shown at the right indicates a large one room main block with a central entrance. This leads to a smaller second room that is slightly less wide. This back room contains a flight of stairs leading to three second floor rooms. A bulkhead cellar entrance is located outside the house on the west facade.

The house faces south on Willow Avenue. It rests on a stone foundation and is capped with intersecting gable roofs. Two concrete and four wood steps lead to the front porch which is supported by four plain white posts and is enclosed with an enclosed asbestos shingled railing. The main entrance consists of a modern screen door and a wood paneled interior door. One 6/6 sash window with green louvered shutters flank each side of the door. Fenestration on the second floor consists of two 6/6 sash windows with green louvered shutters.

Fenestration on the west facade is limited to a double 6/6 sash window on the first floor of the front room and a small 2/2 sash window on the second floor of the front room.

The north or rear facade reveals a narrow wood paneled door capped with a shingled hood on brackets. Above the door on the second floor is a small single pane casement window. To the immediate left of the door is a brick exterior chimney flue covered with plaster. To the left of the chimney is a 4/4 sash window on the first floor and a 6/6 sash window on the second floor.

The east facade, quite interestingly, shows no fenestration. Unfortunately, the house is unoccupied and interior access could not be secured. It was hoped that an interior inspection would confirm the hypothesis that this east facade possessed at one time a bay window similar to that on 32 Willow Avenue. Presently, the only fenestration on this facade is provided by the shed roof addition made to the northeast corner of the house. This addition contains an entrance facing north. The door is capped with a hood on brackets similar to that at the north entrance. A 6/6 sash window is also located on the addition and faces north.

BUILDER/ARCHITECT

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

1 Willow Avenue was constructed prior to 1898, as evident by its appearance on George Bromley's Atlas of Towson, published in that year. In 1898, the area of Willow Avenue/Linden Terrace was still relatively unpopulated, with only three other buildings appearing on the former street. Therefore, as one of the oldest houses in the area, 1 Willow is important as visual documentation of one of the earliest architectural styles in the neighborhood — the unornamented, gable-roofed, vernacular.

Aside from its individual architectural merits, however, 1 Willow is significant as an integral part of the surrounding residential neighborhood. In recent years, increased commercialization has threatened Towson's residential character. Many of the private residences which once typified Towson's built environment have been either demolished or altered in such a manner as to destroy their architectural and historic significance. The houses on Willow Avenue and Linden Terrace constitute one of the few relatively unchanged residential areas left in Central Towson. 1 Willow together with the other vernacular buildings on the street provide a visual representation of Towson's earlier character.
